

Did DINOSAURS Ever Live on Earth With Man?

To answer the accusation that someone may have chiseled the human footprints into the bedrock, heavy earth-moving equipment was brought to the site and a section of previously untouched riverbank was carefully removed.

The excavation uncovered even more of the human prints perfectly preserved in the bedrock!

To make prints in the same rock strata, both the dinosaur and the human had to have been there at approximately the same time before the mud dried and began to solidify into rock.

The conclusions are very obvious: man and dinosaurs were created and lived on earth at the same time, and the theory of evolution is greatly flawed.

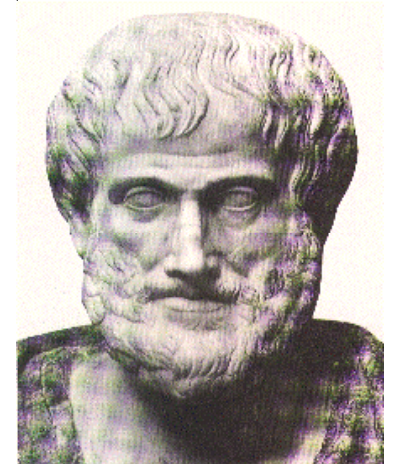

Evolutionary scientists tell us that dinosaurs became extinct 65 million years ago. The fact is, 65 million years ago the sun would have been more than double the size it is today and no form of life could have existed on earth!

Reported Dinosaur Sightings!

HISTORICAL SIGHTINGS:

For some strange reason we are more prone to listen to the testimony of ancient historians than we are to give credence to the reports of our peers. Perhaps we are skeptical because there are so many pranksters amongst us.

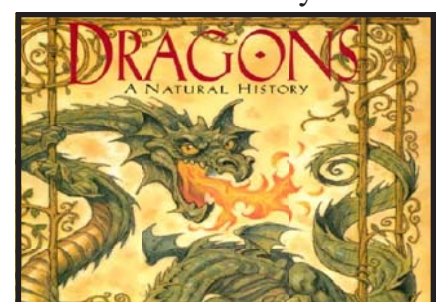

ARISTOTLE:

This well-respected Greek philosopher also reported that flying serpents were commonly seen in Ethiopia. History is filled with claims throughout the centuries of “dragons and monsters.” Are they just fables and tales? We would recommend a book by Paul S. Taylor entitled “The Great Dinosaur Mystery.”

MARCO POLO:

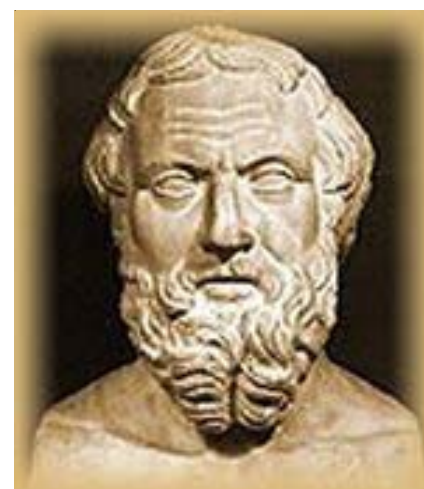

Marco Polo lived in China for many years in the 13th century and reported that the emperor raised “dragons” to pull his chariots in parades. The emperor even appointed a “Royal Dragon Feeder” to take care of his exotic creatures. Apparently the Chinese infatuation with dragons is more than ancient myth!

Pictured above is Dr. Don Patton who provided oversight in removing tons of rock and dirt from the riverbank that covered the human and dinosaur tracks in the Paluxy River.

Dinosaur and human tracks have been discovered together in the same bedrock of the Paluxy River near Dinosaur Valley, Glen Rose, Texas. Pictured above is Mr. Stan Taylor who exposed many of the human and dinosaur tracks from 1969 to 1972.

HERODOTUS:

The well-known and respected Greek explorer, Herodotus, described small flying reptiles in ancient Egypt and Arabia. Herodotus reported that the creatures had a snake-like body and bat-like wings. He recorded that he saw a canyon with many piles of their backbones and ribs. He also wrote that the strange creatures could sometimes be found in the spice groves, and that when workers wanted to gather frankincense they would have to make fires with odorous smoke to drive the reptiles away.
